A THANK YOU
FROM CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICES

We received the following letter addressed to Holy Name Parish in response to our March 27, 2022 Diocesan Collection for Catholic Relief Services:

Dear Friend,

Thank you for your generous gift to Catholic Relief Services. Your recent donation of $727.07 received on June 9, 2022 provides vital support to CRS. Your contribution is essential to our efforts to alleviate human suffering and ease the burdens of overwhelming poverty overseas.

It is clear to me that you are as compassionate as the Good Samaritan in the Gospels of Jesus Christ. Rest assured your good deed is a godsend to our most vulnerable brothers and sisters around the world. We are blessed to have you as a member of the CRS family.

I am inspired that you have chosen to reach far beyond the bounds of your own community to care for perfect strangers in such great need. On behalf of all those touched by your compassion, I offer my deepest gratitude and wish you an abundance of blessings and joys.

Peace and Light,
Sean L. Callahan, President & CEO

PLEASE SUPPORT OUR ADVERTISERS

We wouldn't be able to bring you our bulletin each week without the businesses that advertise on our back pages. Right now, they need your help more than ever.

Please show your support and shop local during these difficult times.

HOLY NAME FOOD PANTRY
SERVING THE COMMUNITY SINCE 1987

The Pantry will distribute food from the Rectory Basement:

1:15 p.m. - 2:30 p.m.*
on Saturdays
July 16 & 30.

Please note new time.*

Thank you to Rosanne Leacy for her very generous donation of food items!

The Girl Scouts of Holy Name would also like to thank everyone for their very generous response to Summer Stock at the HNJ Food Pantry.

We are receiving more people at the pantry who are in need of our services. If you can, please keep items such as rice, sauce, beans, and cereal on your shopping list for us.

Thank your support for the past 35 years!

Holy Name of Jesus Invites you to A Special Lecture Series

"Who is Jesus Christ?"

hosted by

Fr. John P. Cush, STD

Professor of Dogmatic Theology at Saint Joseph's Seminary

2 Sessions Remaining!

Wednesdays,
7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.
July 13 & 20

Via Zoom

These sessions will introduce you to an investigation of the ultimate question posed by Our Lord Jesus: "Who do you say that I am?". Fr. Cush will begin to examine why these theological distinctions matter in terms of our prayer and pastoral ministry in the Church.

Please call the Rectory Office at (718) 768-3071 to request a Zoom invitation

PLEASE REMEMBER THE NEEDY

There are Poor Boxes near the doors in the Church vestibule.

Please remember the less fortunate members of our community.

Looking More Closely at the Word

Who Is Your Samaritan?

by Fr. Dennis Hamm, SJ

To Jesus' fellow Jews, a Samaritan was a despicable creature. We tend to miss that important fact. Because we have monumentalized the hero of Jesus' road-rescue story by naming hospitals and laws after the Good Samaritan, we have lost touch with the fact that the relationships between first-century Jews and Samaritans were generally characterized by that special hostility found among close relatives who feel themselves betrayed by the other. Missing that note, we also miss much of the punch of the parable.

When we hear about those who pass by without helping the victim, we easily dismiss them as heartless religious officials

Luke had already alluded to that animosity in chapter nine when he wrote that the Samaritans "would not receive him" as Jesus and his disciples headed south through Samaritan territory to Jerusalem. Any Samaritan knew that the proper place for authentic Israelite worship was Mount Gerizim and that Galilean Jews on pilgrimage to Jerusalem were heretics busy doing the wrong thing—people out of place. A parallel with our experience of gangs and "turf" is not out of place here.

In his typical way, Luke provides a specific occasion for the telling of the parable. A teacher of Torah, bent on testing Jesus, asks the Big Question: "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus questions the questioner by asking what the teacher reads in his Torah. The lawyer responds with a nice summary of Jesus' own Torah-linked teaching, joining love of God (Dt 6) with love of neighbor (Lev 19:18). Embarrassed that Jesus has exposed him as knowing the answer to his own question, this teacher, in true forensic fashion, asks Jesus to define "neighbor." The implication is that once you define "neighbor," you know the designated "neighborhood," and then you also know whom you can hate, or at least neglect.

Instead of responding with the requested definition, Jesus tells a story with details carefully chosen. A man is assaulted and robbed in a setting that would have been familiar and plausible to first-century Palestinians. The road from Jerusalem to Jericho—desolate and full of twists and turns—is still a likely place for highway robbery. Stripped and unconscious, the victim becomes a kind of "common denominator" of humanity. Without the cues of clothing and speech, there is no way to place him by race or class; it is not even clear whether he is living or dead.

When we hear about those who pass by without helping the victim, we easily dismiss them as heartless religious officials. The response of Jesus' original audience may well have been more nuanced. The victim—naked, motionless, and mute—would look to a casual glance like a corpse. Among the purity regulations that constrained the lives of Temple officials (priests and Levites) was a rule saying that touching (even coming within four cubits of) a corpse rendered one unclean. The narrative, then, allows us to understand the by-passers' behavior as "playing it safe" in the presence of what seemed to be a corpse rather than cold neglect of a robbery victim. The original listeners would not have been surprised.

By contrast, the action of the Samaritan traveler is astounding. This man has every excuse in the world to mind his own business and to keep on moving. A Samaritan in Judea, on the wrong "turf," he is himself an automatic target for hostility. If he is caught near the victim, he would be considered a likely suspect in the aggression. Yet he is "moved with compassion at the sight" and proceeds to place himself at risk by administering first aid and taking the victim to an inn to see that he is properly cared for.

SUNDAY'S READINGS

First: Deuteronomy 30:10-14

Second: Colossians 1:15-20

Gospel: Luke 10:25-37

In answer to the lawyer's quest for a self-serving definition of neighbor, Jesus has provided this stunning narrative image, as if to say, "You ask for an exclusive definition of 'neighbor'; I say: be neighbor to any human being in need."

At a time when our tribal hostilities tear at national and even ecclesial unity, this parable of Jesus challenges us to take our membership in the human family with utmost seriousness.

RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

What Jesus Doesn't Say - "If Jesus wanted us to (fill in the blank), he would have said so."

We hear this argument applied to every controversial topic under the sun — and even some not-so-controversial topics, too. Whenever someone is trying to make a case for a decision they have already made, they call in Jesus' scriptural silence on the matter as their expert, unimpeachable witness.

And sure, there's much Jesus doesn't talk about in the Gospels. But by this logic, we would have to assume that Jesus doesn't care, for instance, if we drive well over the speed limit (he doesn't discuss cars and highways in the Bible) or what we do online (he never mentions the Internet or websites at all!), when we know that certainly is just not the case.

Like the scholar of the Jewish law who challenges Jesus to define who exactly his "neighbor" is, we can argue semantics all we want. But if we rest in prayer and look deep into our hearts, we know what path we need to take, and it's usually not the easy one. I find that I do this plenty in ways that are far more subtle. I lament that the situation facing me is not sufficiently "black and white." I become frustrated by the shades of moral grey and toss up my hands, claiming I don't know what the right answer is, insisting that I can't be blamed for the ramifications of whatever decision I make.

What I need to be doing in these situations is asking God for His guidance, even if it makes me nervous. I need to be like the scholar. He was brave enough to ask, even though I think he knew he wouldn't particularly like the answer. Let's strive for that same courage.

THIS WEEK'S REFLECTION: MEMORIAL OF BONAVENTURE

July 15 — Know your net worth: "If you do not know your own dignity and condition, you cannot value anything at its proper worth," says the wise Saint Bonaventure, noted 13th-century Franciscan theologian and doctor of the church. Take time to think about that admonishment today. Tally your credits and debits—the good and bad you've wrought, your accomplishments and failures. Then remember that nothing goes unnoticed by God: "Even the hairs of your head are all counted" (Matt. 10:30). Why? Because you are God's alone. Let that knowledge shape your understanding of everything. As Bonaventure puts it: "Every creature is a divine word because it proclaims God."
